Old Business: None

New Business:

- 1. Public hearing is to receive public comments regarding the application for a Conditional Use Permit #CU2502 For Belle's Sake, a 501c3 animal rescue and boarding facility offering long term low-rate boarding and welfare services to the Midwest in 11-30-7 in Jefferson Township.

Chairman Wilken opened the public hearing at 7:01 p.m. Administrator Jelinek gave a brief explanation of the application, the correspondence received in favor of the application and call in opposition. Christian and Shelby Bird then spoke about their history & plan. Vets in O'Neill, Creighton and Bloomfield have all stated that they could assist. They also described their plan to combine the buildings with a covered indoor area for inclement weather.

The planning commission asked questions about the previous setups, buildings, waste management, noise, staffing, etc. The buildings have insulated walls, which help with heat and as a noise barrier. Each kennel area has outdoor access. At least twice a day, it opens into an outdoor run. Fencing panels are 6 ft tall and 10 ft long and attach together. The maximum number of dogs would be approximately 24 at 1 time based on the size of the building and stall capacity, apart from a litter being born and the time it would take to adopt those puppies out. Washout requirements were questioned – none of the rooms have drainage, they are hand cleaned twice a day. Waste is cleaned and double bagged but never gets washed onto another's property. When the animals go outside, it's cleaned up right away, not left on the ground. Animals are not left there for the rest of their life – the next steps are based on the vet's recommendation. Historically, the applicants have only had to euthanize 2 animals for behavioral issues but prioritize foster home or in-home trainers then animals are adopted almost immediately after training. The facility has 1 indoor cat room, with a "catio" can house 10-15, but like to keep it to 10. When animals arrive, they go into an immediate 10-day quarantine. They've cared primarily for dogs and cats, but have had llama, donkey, iguana, parrots, etc. When the concern of noise level was brought up, Shelby stated that she had harvested a deer in the front yard of the facility last year. Christian and Shelby also mentioned that if they had a specific animal that was a noise nuisance it would be a top priority to relocate or find a foster facility for that animal. They don't want to be a nuisance to the area, but an asset. They encouraged any member of the public with concerns to visit the facility or consider being a member of their board to bring the concerns to them.

Members of the public were present for comments, and written testimony had been received prior to the meeting.

Dan Vakoc is an adjoining landowner and has a 500-acre gravel mine, recreational hunting, and cow/calf operation. Concerns include mine safety & health, dog escapes, odor and noise, etc. that will keep the wildlife away.

Bruce VanBuren – Concerned why the applicant doesn't put it on their home property. Also concern of waste management.

Larry Olsen – Property is recreational and hunting area. He has family camping on his ground and is concerned with an animal getting loose. Thinks the footprint has a negative impact.

The board asked Christian and Shelby to address the concerns of the public. Shelby responded with the concerns of the public. She said that animal escapes are virtually impossible. Waste is immediately picked up and put in closed containers. Water would be through a cistern from their private property. In 15 years, they have never had an animal escape.

Jim Kotrous made a motion to close the public hearing at 8:19 p.m. Keith Nielsen seconded the motion. Roll call vote showed all in favor. Ayes: Jim Kotrous, David Arens, Robert Ganz, Dean Wilken, Greg Kuhlman, Keith Nielsen, Robert Larsen. Absent: Doug DeShazer and Neil Clausen.
